Anatomy Design

Pragmatic and utilitarian in their approach, South African interior design duo, Anatomy Design, led by Megan Hesse and Andrea Kleinloog draw from a distinctly African sensibility, infused with inspirations from European style. Working out of Cape Town and Johannesburg, their interior design practice and product design has earned them numerous awards and continues to develop interiors for private and corporate clients alike while also engaging in their industry, spearheading the new creative industry hub and event, Design Joburg.

Inspired by her parents' pharmaceutical work and their old lab equipment, Andrea Kleinloog from Anatomy Design designed the Lab Light mixing steel, brass and porcelain.

This brought on a desire to make a lamp with a younger feel. Base, lampshade, and rotating arm—all in painted aluminium.
